

Catherine de Baillon's Armorial for Her Royal Gateway

Heraldry Research and Artwork by John P. DuLong

Catherine de Baillon's descent from Philippe II, Auguste, King of France, can be illustrated for every generation through the arms of her ancestors. She was a young noble lady who settled in New France in 1669. Many Americans and Canadians with roots in Québec can claim descent from her.

Paternal Arms

Couple

Maternal Arms

I

The Mivilles were non-armigerous

Catherine de Baillon and Jacques Miville dit Deschênes, married 12 November 1669, Notre-Dame de Québec, she was the daughter of:

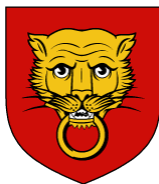

II

Alphonse de Baillon, sieur de La Mascotterie, and Louise de Marle, married about 1630/1640, Chevreuse region (Yvelines), île de France, he was the son of:

III

Renée Maillard and Adam de Baillon, seigneur of Valence, married about 1580, she was the daughter of:

IV

Miles Maillard, seigneur of the Breuil and of La Boissière, and Marie Morant, marriage contract 25 June 1555, he was the son of:

V

Bénigne Le Bouteillier, dame of La Boissière, and Jacques Maillard, seigneur of Champagne, marriage contract 16 April 1516 Montivilliers (Seine-Maritime), Normandie, she was the daughter of:

Paternal Arms

Couple

Maternal Arms

VI

Jean Le Bouteillier, seigneur of La Bouteillerie, of Roquemont, and of Vaux-sur-Orge and of La Boissière, and Marie de Venois, married about 1480/1490, he was the son of:

VII

Guy II Le Bouteillier, seigneur of La Boiuteillerie and of La Roche-Guyon, and Isabeau Morhier, married about 1450, he was the son of:

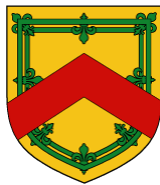

VIII

Catherine de Gavre d'Escornaix, dame of Vaux-sur-Orge and of La Boissière, and Guy I Le Bouteillier, seigneur of La Bouteillerie and of La Roche-Guyon, married after April 1419, about 1425, she was the daughter of:

IX

Isabelle de Ghistelles and Arnould VI de Gavre, baron of Escornaix, married about 1380/1390, she was the daughter of:

X

Roger de Ghistelles, seigneur of Dudzeele and of Straten, and Marguerite, dame of Dudzeele, married in or a little before 1357, he was the son of:

XI

Jean IV, seigneur of Ghistelles, and Marie de Haverskerke, dame of Straten, married a little after June 1337, he was the son of:

XII

Marguerite de Luxembourg and Jean III, seigneur of Ghistelles, married 1284 avant juin 1289

Paternal Arms

Couple

Maternal Arms

XIII

Mathilde de Clèves and Gérard de Luxembourg, seigneur of Durbury, married 1253

XIV

Élisabeth de Brabant and Thierry de Clèves, seigneur of Dinslaken, married 19 mars 1233, Louvain, Brabant, she was the daughter of:

XV

Princess Marie de France and Henri I, duke of Brabant, married between 8 and 22 April 1213, Soissons (Aisne) Picardie, she was the daughter of:

XVI

Philippe II, Auguste, king of France, and Agnès d'Andechs de Méranie, married June 1196

Notes:

Pierre Miville dit Le Suisse, the father of Jacques Miville dit Deschênes, is not known to have used any arms. His descendants (L'Association Les descendants de Pierre Miville) adopted arms for their group around 1987. You can view these arms and learn the meaning of its parts at <http://www.miville.com/crest.htm>.

Regarding the arms of Queen Agnès d'Andechs de Méranie, I have displayed the arms of her father, Berthold IV, duke of Méranie and count of Andechs. However, some references, such as Père Anselme's Maison royale de France (Paris, 1723-1733), 1:80, shows here arms as follows:

Source:

René Jetté, John Patrick DuLong, Roland-Yves Gagné, Gail F. Moreau, and Joseph A. Dubé. Table d'ascendance de Catherine Baillon (12 générations). Montréal: Société généalogique canadienne-française, 2001.

Heraldry Artwork: Done using Adobe Illustrator and Armorial Gold Heraldry Clipart.