

Anne Couvent's Ascending Lineage to Baldwin I, Emperor of Constantinople

Based on the Genealogical Research of Roland-Yves Gagné and Laurent Kokanosky,
Heraldry Research and Artwork by John P. DuLong

Anne Couvent came to New France from Picardy with her husband Philippe Amiot / Hameau and two sons, Jean and Mathieu, in 1636. A third child, Charles, was born in New France. In addition, her nephew, Toussaint Ledran, the son of Louis Ledran and Charlotte Couvent, also settled in New France. Many Canadians and Americans descend from one of the Couvent sisters and thus from royalty.

Baldwin was the VI of that name to be the count of Hainaut and the IX to be the count of Flanders. He was one of the leaders of the Fourth Crusade that did nothing to liberate the Holy Land but did sack Constantinople and conquered most of the Byzantine Empire. He fellow crusaders elected him to be the emperor of the Latin Empire of Constantinople in 1204. He died the next year fighting the Bulgarians.
