

Anne Couvent's Ascending Lineage to St. Fernando III, King of Castile and León

Based in part on the Genealogical Research of Roland-Yves Gagné and Laurent Kokanosky,

Anne Couvent came to New France from Picardy with her husband Philippe Amiot / Hameau and two sons, Jean and Mathieu, in 1636. A third child, Charles, was born in New France. In addition, her nephew, Toussaint Ledran, the son of Louis Ledran and Charlotte Couvent, also settled in New France. Many Canadians and Americans descend from one of the Couvent sisters and thus from royalty.

Fernando III of Castile and León was canonized a saint in 1671 by Pope Clement X. Fernando reigned as the king of Castile from 1217 to 1252 and the king of León from 1230 to 1252. He was the first cousin of St. Louis IX, king of France, as their mothers were sisters. Both fought crusades against the Muslims with Fernando being more successful against the Moors of Spain than Louis was in combating the Saracens of Egypt and Tunisia.
